

ALGONEST REFUND POLICY

Once the term of your Contract ends Funds may be withdrawn by you from your Account. Once your withdrawal request is approved, your withdrawal request will be processed by us and sent for execution to the same bank, credit card or other source from which the funds were debited or as we, in our absolute discretion determine, as soon as possible. Withdrawals will only be made at a source in your name. Note that some banks and credit card companies may take time to process payments especially in currencies where a correspondent bank is involved in the transaction.

Please note that a client's failure to complete the Company's due diligence procedure to the Company's satisfaction may affect the client's ability to withdraw his funds.